

The Constitution, the Campus, and the Capital:

Higher Education and Federal Power

CONSTITUTION DAY | SEPTEMBER 17

How should we understand the relationship between the federal government and higher education in the United States especially during moments of open conflict between administrations and universities? How did we get here? And what's at stake in this clash, not just for higher education, but for the nation and our constitutional order?

Join a fascinating talk with Susan McWilliams Barndt, professor of politics at Pomona College and scholar on the U.S. Constitution.

Wednesday,
Sept. 17
12–1:30 p.m.

Love Library (LL)
2nd Floor Ground Level
(Between the Financial
Markets Lab (261) and Hub
East Wing)

Sponsors:

[American Revolution and Constitution History
\(ARCH\) Project](#)

JACK MILLER CENTER
For Teaching America's Founding Principles and History

SDSU

College of Arts and Letters
History